

recording-tips

A good recording is always the best precondition for a good mix.

Tips for preparing the recording-session:

- make sure, that the recording equipment is in perfect state.
- Create a focused working-atmosphere and motivate the musicians.
- Are songtempo and rhythmic interaction of the instruments correct and are rhythmic fitting with the parts?
- Use only new strings and drum-heads and tune your instruments properly.
- Every instrument has to sound good and must be technically perfect.

Tips for the recording - session:

- If possible, record always to a click-track.
- Pay attention to a good performance (steady tempo, good playing-technique, volume-dynamics, emotional intensity).
- Record good levels high enough, but no overs.
- The density of the arrangement needs to be correct. Must there be voices added or removed? How
- many frequential areas are taken by which sounds (maybe use different voicings).
- Apply skilful microphone-techniques.
- Please record no sidetones, ambient noise or distortions.
